Says CIAgent aided 2 spies for Soviet

San Diego (UPI)—A San Diego freelance writer who plans to marry convicted spy Andrew Daulton Lee in prison says she has evidence that a third person, a "CIA operative," joined Lee and Christopher Boyce in their conspiracy to sell satellite secrets to the Soviet Union.

Kathleen McKenney, 28, who met Lee three months ago while researching a book, said she intends to use the information to request a retrial for him. She said the third conspirator is willing to come forward and talk.

Lee and Boyce are serving life sentences in the Federal Correctional Institute at Lompoc, Calif., for their 1977 espionage convictions of selling classified information to the Soviet Union in 1975 and 1976. Boyce escaped from the facility in January 1980, but was recaptured last August in Port Angeles, Wash.

They were convicted of selling to the Soviets top-secret satellite information that Boyce had stolen from the ultrasecret "black vault" department of the TRW Systems electronics firm in Redondo Beach. He had worked at the firm as a security clerk.

McKenney said the third person was a CIA operative and said he was the one who really stole the secret information and passed it to Boyce. ■
